FAREWELL PARTY

An exceedingly enjoyable evening was spent on Monday, of this week, at the home of J. A. and Mrs. Anderson when their many friends and neighbors met together "a la surprise party" to bid them forewell in lieu of their approaching departure from this district.

There were upwards of sixty persons present and the surprise element was perfect in its completeness. After spending several hours in social games of many descriptions and after many laughs, an appetizing lunch consisting of sandwiches, cake, fruit and coffee, was served. The members of the Anderson family were then placed in the centre of the floor and an address was read by Mrs. Robt Lay in explanation of the event, and presentations were made to each member of the family present. After the singing of "For they are jolly good fellows," speeches were in order and the happy gathering was brought to a close by the singing of "Blest be the tie that binds." The popularity and influence of this family is best judged by the heart-felt good wishes that were extended by all present.

It was a cold night but Bob Lay wasn't cold when he was "it" in the games. Oh, Clarence can you find the whistle now?

Mr. Anderson left on Nov. 8 with their car of furniture and stock. The family will follow follow next week to their new home near Eckville, about fifty miles west of Lacombe.

Yes, Pat Stewart is back again and say! he and his bride are as happy as can be! We saw them at the home of B. R. and Mrs. Cramer, on Thursday evening of last week, and my! weren't we glad to be there.

The splendid response to the hint of a surprise miscellaneous shower in honor of the newly-weds testifies to the place they occupy in the community. There were about seventy adult persons present in addition to the junior disconcerters of music, and the evening was spent in neighborly chat and in social games. We would not attempt an enumeration of the keepsakes and gifts that were showered upon the unsuspecting couple, for they were "beyond number" and as varied as the tastes of the individual donors. After the unwrapping and viewing of the gifts and good wishes, "Pat" made a brief but appreciative speech which was enthusiastically received, and a luncheon was served consisting of sandwhiches, cake, fruit and coffee. All those who attended this function are grateful to their host and hostess for this privilege of expressing their good wishes and appreciation to one of our pioneer residents.

We understand also that Saturday evening was maee the occasion of a genuine charivari at the home of the bride and groom when some of their friends and neighbors in the country made them a surprise visit and paid them their compliments, bearing also tangible evidence of their good will.

Owing to an attack of mal de mer, or something similar, the editor was on the sick list and overlooked several items.

The Holloween Supper arranged and held in Gregerson School, by the U. F. W. A. Ladies, proved to be most successfull as well as enjoyable. The school was filled to capacity, and was appropriately decorated for Halloween with black cats, jack-o-lanterns, witches, etc., in a very effective style.

The members take this opportunity to thank the ladies throughout the whole community for their generous donations in home cooking.

The door receipts amounted to $69.25.

Do Your Ears Buzz? Have You Headaches?

When your ears ring, your head aches, and you seem slightly hard of hearing, beware of Catarrh. Mr. J. A. Hammil, writing from Greenmount, P.I., was similarly troubled, and writes: "No one could have worse Catarrh than I had for years. It caused partial deafness, bad taste, upset my stomach, made me sick all over. "Catarrhozone" cleared my nostrils, stopped the cough and gave me a clear feeling in my breathing organs. I am now absolutely well thanks to Catarrhozone." Nothing so certain as a Catarrhozone Inhaler to strengthen a weak throat, to rid you of Bronchitis, to drive out Catarrh, coughs and colds. Sold everywhere, 25c, 50c and one dollar for complete two months treatment. Dealers, The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

"'Oh, that's not far,' he said. 'Can you ride?'

"Everybody here rides horseback. It's the standard means of locomotion. And the women ride astride. I was a bit shocked at first, but you soon get used to it. But twenty-five miles is different from a romp round the pasture-field, so I said I was afraid not.

"'Arthurs is coming down with the buckboard,' remarked the other man. 'I passed him on the trail as I came in.'

"Sure enough, a little later Arthurs himself drew up at the hotel. I wouldn't have known him, but one of the young men pointed him out, and it would have done you good to see how he received me. 'And you are Jack and Mary's daughter,' he said, taking both my hands in his, and holding me at arm's length for a moment. Then, before I knew it, he had drawn me up and kisse d me. But I didn't care. All of a sudden it seemed to me that I had found a real father. It seems hard to say it, but that is how I felt.

"Well, he just couldn't keep away from me all evening. He showered me with questions about you and father, which I answered as well as I could, but I soon found I couldn't keep my secret, so I just up and told him all. He was very grave, but not cross. 'You need time to think things over, and to get a right perspective,' he said, 'and our home will be yours until you do.'

"We drove home the next day, up a wonderful river valley, deep into the heart of the foothills, with the blue mountains always beckoning and receding before us. Mrs. Arthurs was as surprised and delighted as he had been, and I won't try to tell you all the things she said to me. She cried a little, too, and I'm afraid I came near helping her a bit. You know the Arthurs lost their little girl before they left Manitoba, and they have had no other children. They both seemed just hungry.

"There's nothing so very fine about their home, except the spirit that's inside it. I can't describe it, but it's there—a certain leisurely way of doing things, a sense that they have made work their servant instead of their master. And still they're certainly not lazy, and they've accomplished more than we have. When they left Manitoba in the early days, discouraged with successive frosts, they came right out here into the foothills with their few head of stock. Now their cattle are numbered in thousands, and they have about a township of land. And still they seem to live for the pure happiness they find in life, and only to think of their property as a secondary consideration.

"Now I really must close. Mrs. Arthurs sends a note, and I'm quite sure it's an invitation. Oh, mother, what could be lovelier! Nnow don't say you can't. Father has plenty o. money; let him hire a housekeeper for a while. The change will do him good.

"Love to you dearest, and to Allan, if he still thinks of me.

"Beulah.

"P.S.—I forgot to mention that Jim Travers left Plainville on the same train as I did. He could hardly believe his eyes when he saw me there. I told him I was going West on a visit, but I don't know how much he guessed. Said he was going West himself to take up land, but he wanted to call on some friends first, and he got off a few stations from Plainville. Between you and me, I believe he changed his plan so that the incident—of being on the train together, you know—could not be misunderstood if the neighbors got to know of it. It would be just like Jim to do that."

With Beulah's letter was a short but earnest note from Lilian Arthurs, assuring the mother of her daughter's welfare, and pressing an invitation to spend the autumn in the glorious scenery and weather of the foothill country. Mary Harris read both letters over again, with frequent rubbing of her glasses. Love for her daughter, desire to see her old friend once more, and growing dissatisfaction with conditions at home, all combined to give weight to the invitation so earnestly extended. "If I only could!" she said to herself. "If I only could! But it would cost so much."

The dinner was late that day, and Harris was in worse humour than usual. He had just broken a ploughbeam, which meant an afternoon's delay and some dollars of expense. When he had started his meal his wife laid the full envelope before him. "A letter from Beulah," she said.

Without a word he rose from the table, took the letter in his hand, and thrust it into the kitchen range. A blue flame slowly cut round the envelope; the pages began to curl like dry leaves in autumn, and presently the withered ghost of the missive shrank away in the dull glare of the coal fire behind.

CHAPTER XI.

The Price of "Success."

At last the ploughing was finished, and, although the rich smell of wheat in the milk filled the air, it still would be almost a month before the ripening crops were ready for the binder. Harris felt that he could now allow himself a breathing spell, and that the opportunity to investigate the rich lands of the Farther West was at hand. Many nights, while Mary milked the cows, he had walked over to Riles', and the two had discussed their forthcoming venture until they had grown almost enthusiastinc over it. Riles, it must be said, was the leading spirit in the movement; although already possessed of sufficient land and means to keep him in comfort through his advancing years, the possibility of greater wea th, and particularly of wealth to be had without corresponding effort, was a lure altogether irresistible. And Harris fell in with the plan readily enough. A quarter of a century having elapsed since his former homesteading, he was now eligible again to file on free Government land; Allan could do the same, and, by taking advantage of the purchase of script, it was possible to still further increase their holdings. In addition to all this, Riles had unfolded a scheme for staking two or three others on free homestead land; it would be necessary, of course, to provide them with "grub" and a small wage during the three years required to prove up, but in consideration of these benefactions the titles to the land, when secured, were to be promptly transferred to Riles and Harris. This was strictly against the law, but the two pioneers felt no sense of crime or shame for their plans, but rather congratulated themselves upon their cunning though by no means original scheme to evade the regulations.

Harris found the task of disclosing his intentions to his wife more unpleasant than he would have supposed, and it took him some days to make up his mind to broach the subject. He felt that he was doing what was for the best, and that his business judgment in the matter could hardly be challenged; and yet he had an uncomfortable feeling that his wife would not fall in with his plans. That, of course, would not be allowed to affect his plans; since Beulah's departure nothing but the most formal conversation had taken place in their household; yet it would certainly be easier for him if Mary should give her encouragement to his undertaking. He felt that he was entitled to this, for was it not for her that he was making the sacrifice? Was not all he had hers? And were not all his labours directed toward increasing her reserve against the rainy day? And yet instinctively he felt that she would oppose him.

It was the evening of a long day in July when, very much to Mary's surprise, her husband took the handle of the cream separator from her. To the sad-hearted woman it seemed that the breach was at length beginning to heal, and that happiness would shortly return to their hearthside. Below the din of the separator she actually found herself humming an old love-song of the 'eighties.

But her happiness was of short duration. When the milk had been run through, and the noise of the whirling bowl no longer prevented conversation, Harris immediately got down to business.

"Allan and me will be leavin' for the West in a day or two," he said. "I suppose you can get along all right for a few weeks until harvest. Bill (the hired man) will be here."

In an instant she saw the motive behind his apparent kindness, and the hopes she had just entertained only deepened the flood of resentment which swept over them. But she answered quietly and without apparent emotion: "That's unfortunate, as I was planning for a little trip myself."

"You!" he exclaimed. "You plannin' a trip! Where in the world do you want to go?" Such a thing as Mary going on a trip, and, above all, unaccompanied by himself, was unheard of and unthinkable.

"Yes, I thought I would take a little trip," she continued. "I've been working here pretty hard for something over twenty-five years, and you may say I've never been off the place. A bit of a holiday shouldn't do me any harm."

"Where do you think of goin'?" he demanded, a sudden suspicion arising in his mind. "Goin' to visit Jim and Beulah?"

"I think you might at least be fair to Beulah," she retorted. "If you had read her letter, instead of putting it in the stove, you would have known better."

"I ain't interested in anything' Beulah may have to say, and any other letters that fall into my hands will go in the same direction. And what's more, she's not goin' to have a visit from any member of this family at the present time. I'm goin' out West to take up land, and Allan's goin' with me. It ain't fair or reasonable for you to try to upset our plans by a notion of this kind."

"It isn't a notion, John, it's a resolve. If you are bound to take up more land, with more work and more worry, why go ahead, but remember it's your own undertaking. I helped to make one home in the wilderness, and one home's enough for me."

"Don't be unreasonable," he answered. "There's a great opportunity right now to get land for nothin' that in a few years will be worth as much or more than this here. I'm ready to go through the hardship and the work for the sake of what it will do for us. We can be independently rich in five years, if we just stand together."

Miss A. Lepard, of Beaverdale, Ont., writes:—"Where other remedies all failed, Zam-Buk soon rid me of chilblains. It speedily ended the itching irritation, drew out the inflammation and healed perfectly." Also splendid in eczema, ulcers, abscesses, piles, poisoned wounds, cuts, burns and scalds. 50c., all dealers.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicine I have taken during the last fifteen years. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles with excellent results."

Note and Comment

The teachers of the Consort and Castor Inspectorates held a very successful joint Convention in Coronation, there being ninety-five teachers in attendance. Fifty-five of these were from the Castor Inspectorate and the balance from the Consort Inspectorate.

On Thursday evening, H. B. Doughty gave a very helpful paper on work which can be done outside of the ordinary Course of Studies to make the school more attractive. This was followed by a paper on Busy Work for Primary Grades by Miss Fisher of the Calgary Normal School. This gave the teachers many helpful suggestions that could be worked out to practical advantage, and those who were absent missed many splendid suggestions.

W. F. Hargrove, of Monitor, gave the Chairman's address, emphasizing the value of the influence of both men and women teachers on the formation of character of children.

Mrs. Shannon, of Monitor, gave a very interesting paper on Oral Composition in the Schools. She brought out much helpful information on that important subject.

Inspector Gray, of Consort, spoke on Some Rural School Problems. Such matters as retardation of pupils in poorly graded schools and the reasons for the same, were dealt with. He also emphasized the importance of dealing with those pupils in the accelerated class and giving them extra attention, as they, and not the retarded ones, are our future leaders. Helpful suggestions on the improvement of ventilation, lighting and appearance of rural schools were also given.

Miss Kahl, Coronation, gave a practical demonstration on the teaching of agriculture. Following this a demonstration on making simple apparatus for Grade IX. Physics. These demonstrations were very practical, as in most of the schools where Grade IX. is taught, the apparatus is decidedly limited.

Miss Hargrove in her paper brought out the value of School Fairs in motivating pupils' activities and creating a strong class and community spirit.

Miss Speers emphasized the importance of music as a refining and cultivating influence in every day life. She made a strong plea for the better class of music and the gradual elimination of the valueless popular music. Miss Fisher then gave a very instructive paper on the advantage of silent reading. She showed by this method that poor reading and articulation can be corrected and good reading obtained.

Inspector Yule demonstrated group games with a number of boys and girls from Coronation School. These were very well presented and should encourage all teachers to get out on the playground and conduct organized play.

One hears a great deal about the absent-minded professor, but it would be hard to find one more absent-minded than the dentist who said soothingly, as he applied a tool to the automobile under which he lay, "Now, this is going to hurt just a little."

Reduce The Expenditures

The public debt of Canada is seven to eight times what it was seven years ago, and the great bulk of this enormous increase in debt represents money borrowed at a much higher rate of interest than this Dominion was called upon to pay prior to 1914. The result is that Canada's annual interest charges are now almost, if not quite, equal to the total revenue and expenditure of the Dominion a comparatively few years ago.

In addition to this tremendous drain upon the revenues of the country, Canada has a national railway system which is operating at a loss of more than a million dollars a week. Sir Joseph Flavelle, now chief of the Canadian National Railways directorate, declared a few weeks ago that the loss for 1921 would be between $67,000,000 and $75,000,000. He added that the system would continue to lose money and he estimated that it would be from three to five years before it could even pay operating expenses, and that it might be ten years before interest charges as well could be covered by earnings.

Canada also has today an extensive Government Merchant Marine which is operating at a loss, with many vessels tied up idle in harbors, and the capital value of the ships enormously depreciated as compared with their original cost.

Coupled with these facts the country is faced with a declining revenue from Customs occasioned by decreased world trade, and the decreased buying power of the Canadian people.

Faced with such a situation in his personal business, what would a keen financier, manufacturer, or business man, do What, in fact, do such men always do when they find liabilities and debts piling up? There is only one answer: They cut out every item of expenditure they possibly can; they stop expenditures on new ventures unless they are of an immediate revenue and profit producing character; they throw all their skill and energy into bringing their expenditure within the limits of their revenues, and rigidly refrain from incurring any new liabilities. In a word, they safeguard all their resources and devote careful attention to the strengthening of their credit.

And surely that which long experience has taught the keen financier and commercial magnate to be good business, is equally good business for the nation. But is Canada profiting by the lessons of such experience? It would seem to be necessary to record a negative answer.

In the press reports we still read of contracts being awarded for great works, such as drydocks for the Pacific Coast, to cost millions of dollars. Reports of the launchings of new ships for the Government Merchant Marine still appear in print although it is an acknowledged fact that there is now a surplus of world shipping and those now in commission are losing money. Only the other day announcement was made that it had been decided to revive the building of wooden ships on the Pacific Coast.

With declining business and falling revenues, a business man loses no time in decreasing his staff; but in Canada our Governments continue to pay salaries to a top-heavy civil service, employing two and three men, or women, where one would be sufficient for the work demanding attention.

At a time—three years after the close of the war—when Canada should be beginning to gradually reduce the great debt created by the war, the appalling fact is that the national debt is still increasing, little or no attempt is made to restrict expenditures, and certainly no truly courageous effort is made to meet the needs of an exceedingly serious situation.

The inevitable result is that taxation is not only heavier than ever before known in this Dominion, but it is increasing, as it is bound to increase with every addition to the national debt, and as it must continue to increase until a vigorous and really effective attempt is made to stop all unnecessary expenditures, eliminate all waste and extravagance, and reduce the total of all national expenditures to a figure, not only within the revenue, but which will produce a surplus to apply in the reduction of the existing debt.

This is not a political article in a partizan sense. The situation we have outlined in regard to the Dominion is more or less true in many of the provinces and municipalities. The debt of Ontario has been largely increased, while recent figures show that the gross debt of the City of Toronto was increased by nearly $26,000,000 between January 1 and September 30 of this year.

In view of present world conditions, this tendency to add to national, provincial and municipal debts is all wrong. It is time the people, who must bear the burden and who will be the chief sufferers in the long run if a halt is not soon called, must emphatically demand a return to sanity and the exercise of the same prudence in the management of public business which the great majority of them insist upon in the handling of their private affairs.

French Soldier Will Wear Khaki

But Not Until Stock of Horizon Blue Is Exhausted.

Horizon blue will be replaced by khaki as the color of the uniforms worn by French officers and soldiers, under a decision reached by the superior war council. The uniform of the French army will in future be similar in color to those of the British army.

The order for the change in the uniforms of the French army will not immediately come into effect, but will be operative when the present stocks of horizon blue cloth are exhausted. These stocks, it is said at the ministry of war, are sufficient to last for ten years.

Select Laxative Medicine With Great Care

In debility and weakness, medicine should be mild and far-reaching. Many pills and purgatives are too hard, are drastic instead of curative. Excessive action is always followed by depression, and knowing this Dr. Hamilton devised his pills of Mandrake and Butternut so as to mildly increase liver and kidney activity, so as to flush out the system by toning and regulating the bowels. Thus do Dr. Hamilton's Pills eliminate poisons from the body, thus do they restore clearness to the skin, thus do they renew health and strength. To keep your system in healthy good working order, regulate it with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.

STERN REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM

The Trouble Must be Treated Through the Blood.

Every rheumatic sufferer should realize that rheumatism is rooted in the blood and that to get rid of it. It must be treated through the blood. The old belief that rheumatism was caused by cold, damp weather, is now exploded. Such weather conditions may start the pains, but it is not the cause. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief, but that is all they can do because they do not reach its sources in the blood. The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments with outward applications is only wasting time and money in depending upon such treatment; the trouble still remains, and it is all the time becoming more firmly rooted. Treat this disease through the blood and you will soon find relief. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so act on the cause of the rheumatism. Mr. P. J. MacPherson, R.R. No. 5, Cardigan, P.E.I., says: "About three years ago I was attacked with rheumatism. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and soon the trouble disappeared and I am in better health than before. I also know of an old lady acquaintance who was badly crippled with rheumatism in her arms and legs, and who suffered very much. She, too, took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and is now able to do her housework. I tell you this in the hope it may be of benefit to some other sufferer."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Biggest Thing Of It's Kind Ever Seen In New York Says Druggist

The fact that 625,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the State of New York since its introduction there less than one year ago, is a big business item that will attract unusual attention throughout the entire East, for nothing like it has ever happened before. It breaks all records.

Mr. George B. Evans, manager of the Gibson-Snow Company, the well-known wholesale druggists, with branches in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, recently announced that the preparation was now selling in their trade territories alone at the phenomenal rate of approximately 500,000 bottles a year.

"If the present rate continues," said Mr. Evans, "this State alone will probably require considerably over 750,000 bottles a year. This is a tremendous figure, but I am really conservative in making this statement."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

It is reported that the company has about two hundred million feet of cypress cedar on their limits at Slave Lake.

Discovery of Borax

Preservative Power Discovered by Prospector in Yellowstone Park

The wonderful preservative power of borax were first discovered in Yellowstone Park, Wyoming. A wandering prospector in that desolate though picturesque region came across the body of a horse, which, although it must have died long before, was perfectly whole and sweet. Looking around for an explanation of the phenomenon, he found that the animal was covered with a layer of fine dust, which proved to be borax. He saw the commercial value of his discovery and sold the secret to a large packing firm in Chicago.

Total Output For 1921 Will Be 300,000 Packages

The output of the box factories at Wynndel and Canyon City this year is more than double that of 1920 and fifty per cent. greater than any previous year's. Of apple boxes alone about 150,000 have been made, some of them going to packing stations in the Okanagan while all the local requirements have been supplied. Crates and boxes for all the produce of the districts, which includes apples, pears, plums, peaches, cucumber, tomatoes, are made in large quantities at these factories, whose total output this year will be at least 300,000 packages.

Change In Liquor Act May Be Impending

Following close upon the return of A. J. Brownlee from Regina and Winnipeg, in the course of which he made a careful inquiry into the workings of the Saskatchewan and Manitoba liquor laws, comes the announcement that notices are being sent out by the attorney-general's department to druggists throughout the province to the effect that the government will not be held responsible for any inconveniences that may be caused them if, on or about March 1, the provincial government should decide to prohibit the druggists from carrying liquor in stock.

Notice is being given, explains Hon. Brownlee, so that the druggists may be prepared in good time for the immediate enactment of whatever new legislation on Liquor Act lines is passed by the house after the New Year or whatever new regulations may be passed in the meantime by the government.

No indication is given as to what action is proposed, the sole purpose of the department being to advise the trade so that it may arrange its buying of liquor stocks accordingly.

THE NEWS MONITOR

British Expert Says Conditions Gradually Returning To Normal

New York.—Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the British exchequer, who has been making a three-weeks' study of the commercial and economic situation in America, declared in a statement "that the financial horizon seems clear, and thought it will probably be some considerable time before normal conditions are restored, I am inclined to say that the corner is turned."

"I would like to add, however," Mr. McKenna said, "that it is no time for speculation. Recovery is bound to be slow, working through a period of moderate fluctuation, though I hope, and expect, that the tendency will be an improving one."

"I find," Mr. McKenna continued, "that very considerable interest is taken in the question of international debts between governments. This is a subject on which I could only venture to speak from the British point of view. We are large creditors, and in relation to the United States, we are also debtors. As a debtor, I have nothing to say except that Britain pays her debts. On the other hand, speaking as a creditor, my opinion is that Britain would be selfishly wise having regard only to her industrial and economic position, to remit the obligations due to her.

"If I dared to tread on dangerous ground for a moment it would be to say that the influence of the United States is indispensable in the councils of the world. You are already tied to Europe and the Far East by the bonds of trade, and the responsibilities which arise from this relationship cannot be ignored without great loss to the world and an unfavorable reaction upon yourselves. In England, the calling of the conference by President Harding is most warmly welcomed, not merely for the sake of the results which it is hoped may be achieved, but it is the first time that a great and powerful government has assumed the responsibility of bringing together the prime ministers of other nations to confer upon the means of securing lasting conditions of peace. Peace and industry are the prime needs of the world at the present time, and the world looks to the United States to lead the way."

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes: —"I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise, such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip-hammer and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now although in my 66th year I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping, and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 lbs. now I weigh 150."

Many British Flags At U.S. Convention

Escorts Who Met Admiral Beatty Greeted With Cheers

Ottawa.—That British flags were being carried and cheered by delegates to the convention of the American Legion in Kansas City, was stated in a message received at Great War Veterans' Association headquarters here from N. B. Maxwell, Dominion president, and Rev. C. E. Jenkins, fraternal delegate representing Canadian ex-service men at the convention. Mr. Maxwell, in his message, declared the spirit of the gathering "would prove to be one more sure step towards a better understanding between the British and American people."

When the contingent of Britishers marched to meet Admiral Beatty, they were everywhere cheered and no untoward remarks were heard as they escorted the famous admiral through the streets.

"Admiral Beatty has made a splendid impression," Mr. Maxwell wired. "Enemies of Britain in the United States are dismayed at the unanimity of public opinion which acclaims this British tar as the foremost hero of sea warfare during the present century."

Information Wanted On Soviet Offer

Note Mentions Assuming of Imperial State Debts Only

London.—Great Britain, it was indicated in authoritative quarters, will reply to the recent note of M. Chitcherin, foreign minister of Soviet Russia, offering conditionally to assume the debts of old Russia up to 1914, by the dispatch of a note pointing out the Soviet's offer mentions only the Imperial state debts, which are but a part of the Russian total.

It will also set forth that the conference to establish peace desired by the Moscow Government would be possible only after an allied, or preferably an international consensus of opinion was obtained regarding the policy that was to be pursued toward Russia's indebtedness.

Canadian Veteran Heir to Estate

Informed of Legacy While Working in U.S. Public Parks

Youngstown, Ohio.—While working in parks here as one of the city's unemployed, C. P. Virius, 28, former Canadian soldier, received a letter from a trust company of Edmonton, Alta., informing him that he had become heir to his father's estate valued at between $40,000 and $50,000.

The letter said a will leaving the property to Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., had been found, but as the will had not been witnessed, it is not regarded as valid under Canadian law.

Mother! Clean Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup." They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

U.S. Becoming Alarmed Over Rapid Decrease Of Canadian Trade

New York.—The trade of the United States with Canada "right now is waving a red flag," declared the New York Herald in an editorial discussing the fact that the value of United States' exports to Canada is decreasing much more rapidly than that of United States' imports from the Dominion. The Herald suggests in this connection the advisability of extending larger credits to Canada.

"Canadian values are not very far apart from our own," the paper says. "If, therefore, we lose two dollars of sales to Canada for every dollar of sales that Canada loses to us, we are moving decidedly in the wrong direction."

The paper declares that this is what the United States has been doing, quoting figures to show that for every dollar that Canada's exports to the United States have gone down in the last year, United States' exports to Canada have gone down two dollars and a quarter.

"And Canada, let us not forget, has become our second biggest and best customer in the world," continues the Herald. "With our Canadian exports of approximately a billion dollars a year, only the United Kingdom surpassed Canada in the volume and value of goods bought from us. The whole of South America with Mexico, Central America and the West Indies thrown in, did not equal Canada as a buyer in the markets of the United States. Now the relative swing is heavily against us."

Discussing possible remedies, the Herald declares: "We have plastered loans all over other countries which never can be normal customers of ours while we have been stingy with credits to the one country destined naturally to be our very best customer."

Has Confidence In Disarmament Meet

First Lord of British Admiralty Not Looking For Failure

New York.—Confidence that much good would come out of the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments, was expressed by delegates from Great Britain, Italy and China, on their arrival here on the Olympic.

Lord Lee of Fareham, First Lord of the British Admiralty, in a formal statement said:

"So far as I am concerned, and here I speak not only as the responsible head of the British Admiralty, but as one of the official delegates, I come in a spirit of quiet confidence that the results of this conference will be such as to amply justify President Harding's far-seeing initiative, and, personally, I am not prepared even to contemplate the possibility of failure. To do so would be to assume that the world was afflicted with an incurable insanity and could not be restrained from suicide."

Seek to Prevent Grain Blockade

Railway Companies Co-operate to Relieve Congestion at Lakes

Winnipeg.—A meeting was held between the representatives of the two railway companies and the members of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, when conditions at the lake front with respect to grain storage were discussed.

It was decided that the line elevator companies and the co-operative elevator companies would lend assistance if called on in order to prevent anything in the nature of blockade at the lakes.

"As far as the Canadian Pacific Railway is concerned," said D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the company, 'there is no congestion on the line and if lake tonnage continues to offer in any volume at Fort William, loading restrictions will not be necessary."
